IN 31ST YEAR—EVERY WEEK SINCE 1905.

HAMLIN, JONES COUNTY, TEXAS,

FRIDAY, JULY 3, 1936.

NUMBER 36.

MAYBE SOME WILL CLOSE SATURDAY

Saturday is a hard day for business to close.

Last week the Herald responded to mention something about this town not closing on July 4th. The Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce had seen a number and had prepared to write out his finding, but delayed till it was too late.

The facts are that there IS NO concerted action for closing. Some will do so no doubt, and are thus indicating it in their own way in their own advertising. The facts are that visitors in Hamlin on Saturday, July 4, 1936, will find some stores closed and some open as usual.

Closing any day of the week is never 100% done. Some will have the excuse that certain customers have come to town for service and rather than to disappoint them the "back door" will be opened, while their neighboring competitor's front door is closed. It is not out of place here to say that the best way to keep harmony among business men is to adopt a "majority rule" and then see to it that it sticks. Business fairness is a mark of higher civilization. Business warfare is hurtful to the entire community progress. Community customs should be the rule and if a business man does not want to comply with that custom, then he should move to some place where there is no guiding customs. Your town and my town is just what we make it. It can be a "Hick" or a "City of Dignity and Progress." "What Hamlin Does Makes Hamlin."

There are four outstanding days in the year that are kept as holidays, in most of the United States. Those days are JULY 4; Armistice Day, Nov. 11; Thanksgiving Day, the last Thursday in November; and Christmas Day.

It has been our observation, not only in Hamlin but in other places that when either of those days come

BOYD CHAPEL MEETING TO START

The Church of Christ in Hamlin begins its third mission meeting at Boyd's Chapel Sunday night, July 5. The meeting at Radium was well attended, yet better crowds may be expected at Boyd's Chapel since many of the residents will be nearer through with pressing work.

Services will be held each evening at eight-thirty. Remember the time—beginning Sunday, July 5 and will continue for twelve to fourteen days. Woodie Holden will do the preaching. The public is cordially invited to come from far and near to have part in these gospel services.

WOODIE HOLDEN, Evangelist.

Mrs. Clifford Reynolds and her son, Clifford Jr., and sister, Mrs. Marvin Elliott and Children of Stamford, returned last Friday from a visit to Galveston, where they spent a whole week. They say the "water is fine."

on Saturday there is always some confusion about closing. If attempts are made to get uniform action, somebody will be found "chizling in" under some kind of excuse. This results in strong declarations by those who wish to keep the Day as agreed that "never again will they sign up." So, there you are. Our suggestions be that each class of business do its own persuasions, agreeing, and remember that each and everyone is privileged to be as patriotic or not patriotic as they please. Let it be remembered also that sometimes the motive for closing is not always patriotism. This Saturday would be a good time to stop and go places, having Sunday to fill in a good long journey and back.

HAMLIN MAN IN NEW YORK, SEEING THINGS

NEW YORK, June 24.—W. A. Albritton, retail grocer of Hamlin, Texas, was a recent guest of the National Broadcasting Company on an official guided tour of the company's studios in Radio City. Mr. Albritton, with a group of friends, was en route to the Rotary International convention, at Atlantic City.

Mrs. Watford, wife of the late Editor G. E. Watford, died Thursday of last week, just 13 days after the death of Mr. Watford. She lived in Hamlin a number of years and many old timers remember her. She was a sister of Mrs. Y. C. White, formerly of Hamlin and wife, of Postmaster White.

There are two couples named in this week's Herald who are invited to take a free meal at the new "MOM'S CAFE," Sunday July 5. Who are they?

Mr. President and Nominee

The "War for Economic Freedom and Human Welfare" is still on. President Roosevelt accepts the challenge of battle again, and bravely calls to every man and woman to follow him to victory.

To our way of thinking, it is either "follow Roosevelt in our economic war" or else see our country lapse into a situation to repeat the catastrophe of 1929. Some people cannot see anything good in the party except in that one they have always supported. But everything turns out for the best. Perhaps the country is better off for having voted for Hoover in 1928 than it would have been had Al Smith been elected. Texas and many old Democratic states then would not follow their party. In 1932 several millions of Republicans deserted Hoover and since then most of them have seen economic improvement all along the line, under a Democrat.

It is fitting that Mr. Roosevelt is again the nominee, not so much because he chances to be a Democrat, but because he is no doubt the greatest American humanitarian, and radiates the greatest spirit of hope and "do or die" than any other living American.

Last Saturday night America listened in on the "Acceptance Program" in Philadelphia. It was a demonstration of loyalty, of appreciation, of hope, and we must say of fight for a continuance of the march of progress under the leadership of Roosevelt and Garner.

To back up this sentiment of loyalty to our leader, and the spirit of real Americanism, we feel justified in reproducing a few paragraphs of the President's speech. His main theme can be seen and felt in the paragraphs even though we have deleted sections of the speech. Here is part of what he said. But reading it is not catching the magic the President puts into his expression:

HE SAID:

"I come not only as the leader of a party—not only as a candidate for high office, but as one upon whom many critical hours have imposed and still impose a grave responsibility."

"America will not forget these recent years—will not forget that the rescue was not a mere party task—it was the concern of all of us. In our strength we rose together, rallied our energies together, applied the old rules of common sense, and together survived."

"In those days we shared care. That was why we feared fear. And today, my friends, we have won against the most dangerous of our foes—we have conquered fear."

"Philadelphia is a good city in which to write American history. This is fitting ground on which to reaffirm the faith of our fathers; to pledge ourselves to restore to the people a wider freedom—to give to 1936 as the founders gave to 1776—an American way of life."

"The very word freedom, in itself and of necessity, suggests freedom from some restraining power. In 1776 we sought freedom from the tyranny of a political autocracy—from the eighteenth century royalists, who held special privileges from the crown."

"And so it was to win freedom from the tyranny of political autocracy that the American Revolution was fought. That victory gave the business of governing into the hands of the average man, who won the right with his neighbors to make and order his own destiny through his own Government. Political tyranny was wiped out at Philadelphia on July 4, 1776."

"For out of this modern civilization economic royalists carved new dynasties. New kingdoms were built upon concentration of control over material things. Through new uses of corporations, banks and securities, new machinery of industry and agriculture, of labor and capital—all undreamed of by the fathers—the whole structure of modern life was impressed into this royal service."

"It was natural and perhaps human that the privileged princes of these new economic dynasties, thirsting for power, reached out for control over Government itself. They created a new despotism and wrapped it in the robes of legal sanction. . . . And as a result the average man once more confronts the problem that faced the minuteman. . . .

"Throughout the Nation, opportunity was limited by monopoly. Individual initiative was crushed in the cogs of a great machine. The field open for free business was more and more restricted. Private enterprise became too private. It became privileged enterprise, not free enterprise."

"For too many of us the political equality we once had won was meaningless in the face of economic inequality. A small group had concentrated into their own hands an almost complete control over other people's property, other people's money, other people's labor—other people's lives. For too many of us life was no longer free; liberty no longer real; men could no longer follow the pursuit of happiness."

"The collapse of 1929 showed up the despotism for what it was. The election of 1932 was the people's mandate to end it. Under that mandate it is being ended."

"Today we stand committed to the proposition that freedom is no half and half affair. If the average citizen is guaranteed equal opportunity in the polling place, he must have equal opportunity in the market place."

"Now, as always, the flag and the Constitution stand for democracy, not tyranny; for freedom, not subjection, and against a dictatorship by mob rule and the overprivileged alike."

"The brave and clear platform adopted by this convention, to which I heartily subscribe, sets forth that government in a modern civilization has certain inescapable obligation to its citizens, among which are protection of the family and the home, the establishment of a democracy of opportunity, and aid to those overtaken by disaster."

"We do not see faith, hope and charity as unattainable ideals, but we use them as stout supports of a Nation fighting the fight for freedom in a modern civilization."

Faith—in the soundness of democracy in the midst of dictatorships.

"Hope—renewed because we know so well the progress we have made."

"Charity—in the true spirit of that grand old world. For charity literally translated from the original means love, the love that understands, that does not merely share the wealth of the giver, but in true sympathy and wisdom helps men to help themselves."

"We are poor indeed if this Nation cannot afford to lift from every recess of American life the dread fear of the unemployed that they are not needed in the world. We cannot afford to accumulate a deficit in the books of human fortitude."

"Governments can err—Presidents do make mistakes, but the immortal Dante tells us that divine justice weighs the sins of the cold-blooded and the sins of the warmhearted in different scales."

"Better the occasional faults of a government that lives in a spirit of charity than the consistent omissions of a government frozen in the ice of its own indifference."

"In this world of ours as in other lands, there are some people, who, in times past, have lived and fought for freedom, and seem to have grown too weary to carry on the fight. They have sold their heritage of freedom for the illusion of a living. They have yielded their democracy."

"I believe in my heart that only our success can stir their ancient hope. They begin to know that here in America we are waging a great war. It is not alone a war against want and destitution and economic demoralization. It is a war for the survival of democracy. We are fighting to save a great and precious form of government for ourselves and for the world."

HAMLIN LADIES TAKING TO GOLF

This week, Mrs. F. D. Howe, wife of professional golf instructor, F. D. Howe, of the Lakeview Links, has been busy conducting a woman's Medalist Contest.

Nine Hamlin women, so far, have found the golf course a good place in which to pass off some of the summer hours. Mrs. Howe lists them as follows:

Misses Elsie Wienke, Meddie Mae Bynum, Opal Cory, Kathryn Adkins and Lennie Greenway; and Mesdames M. A. Nicholson, Maurice Smith, Creed Smith and Mrs. Ross Fomby.

Mrs. Howe offered three prizes, based on the lowest score. Just how high the score went up no one will ever know. As we understand it, there are nine holes out there and the idea is to "put" the ball into the holes with as few "hits" as possible.

Golfing, skating and dancing lead in athletic exercises for women. We should include horseback riding, for indeed that is considered fine exercise, and then there is the walking habit, which is almost a lost art.

Ye Herald man, knows so little about golf that we are afraid to use any terms to relate a story of it. Now, for example, there is something called a "putter." This reminds us of the fellows who never do much but "putter about." No reflection on golf, mind you. With us its OK whatever it is. Those sticks that "flamboozle" the ball out into the weeds could be replaced with straight arm throwing. That would be good exercise. Maybe we could do better if we took a few lessons in golf.

The ladies closed their contest Tuesday afternoon. Miss Wienke was first with 55, and Mrs. Maurice Smith second.

HAMLIN FISHERMEN

SAVING FISHES

This week, George Howard, R. H. McCurdy and others "saved" a lot of baby fish from the drying California Creek and gave them a "temporary home" in the lakes. Here they will remain a long time and do well—if they will keep their mouths shut.

More young fish will be brought up from the Cisco Hatchery in October.

Fisher County Agent, T. H. Roensch, reports that 410 Subsidy Checks—amounting to $19,759.23, were received this week, making a total of 1,375 Subsidy checks that have been received amounting to $45,055.34.

Something like 400 more checks are expected in the next few days.

HORSE RACES AT M'CAULLEY

Special to Herald:

The Three Day Race Meet to be held in McCaulley during the McCaulley Celebration August 6, 8 and 8, is attracting horsemen from all parts of West Texas.

Fifteen horses from West Texas towns have made reservations.

George Darden is in charge of the horse races, and he says that the longest race will be three furlongs, as he expects to revive the "Old Time Quarter Race" in West Texas. And the crowds that gather at the McCaulley Race Track will see the same lightning speed that the Old-Timers saw in the early days, when quarter-horses in Texas were plentiful.

From four to five races will be run each day of the Celebration, along with plenty of Matched Races.

Advance Tickets to races are now on sale in McCaulley and a dime can be saved by buying now, on each ticket.

The race fans will see such horses in McCaulley as run on the Big Tracks, including Betty Ann, Black Girl, Topsy Turfy, Run-B-Glory, and other fast horses.

You will forget your troubles at the McCaulley Race Track.

GOVERNOR ALLRED

AND PENSIONS

Several candidates for Governor Allred's post as Governor have made statements that have some of his friends mixed up a bit. If you listen to some of their speeches it might easily be thought that Allred is against the Old Age Assistance Law, and that he is trying to keep the state from paying it, or that he is trying to cut down the payments.

Allred was the first Governor of Texas to recommend Old Age Assistance legislation to the legislature. After his election he recommended submission of an amendment to the State Constitution that would allow the payment of an Old Age pension. The legislature submitted the amendment to the people and it was adopted.

Allred then called a special session of the 44th Legislature and submitted to it the question of Old Age Assistance. This called session failed to arrive at a satisfactory law that could pass both houses.

Allred, on the next day, called another special session of the Legislature, and this second called session finally passed a law, but not by a two-thirds majority.

The Texas law is as liberal as the Federal law will permit in order to comply with the specifications of the National Security Act, the pension, or Assistance is to be given in accordance to need, or on a basis of need.

The whole difficulty, it seems to us, is that Governor Allred is faced with the problem of actually DOING something, or a REALITY. Therefore he encounters real problems that are baffling. He is facing these questions resolutely, and is solving the problems as fast as is humanly possible.

His political opponents have only to TALK ABOUT THEM. And it is easier to talk than it is to DO. It is easier to work out plans on paper than in fact.

"Rome was not built in a day."

Texans do not expect the impossible of a Governor. They are depending upon him to guide the good ship Texas on its course for the remainder of his term in office, and they will re-elect James V. Allred to the Captain's post in the coming election because he has done, and is doing a good job.—Rosebud News.

A good editorial and appropriate. The thing that makes office holding hard is the unfairness of people toward them.

And here is another:

OF, BY AND FOR TEXANS

Texas has had some great governors, but none as great as James V. Allred, our Centennial Governor. His magnetic smile, rapid-fire speech, and hospitable way of receiving people, has embedded him in the heart of every citizen of Texas.

He has done more than any one man to make the Texas Centennial the greatest celebration ever held in the United States.

He receives the common laborer as royally as he receives the President of the United States.

He is the first governor that West Texas can truly call her own.

James V. Allred is really a governor of Texans, by Texans, and for Texans.—The Happy Herald.

Anita Anderson, age 12, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. V. V. Anderson, at the Shell Pipe Line Station, won second in a contest at one of Hamlin's drug stores, recently, and she says she thanks all her friends for their help.

Mrs. Bill High and little daughter, little Miss Margaret, of Carlsbad, New Mexico, were here Saturday, visiting with Mrs. Carl Childress. Mrs. High was formerly Alberta Stephens, a very popular young lady of Hamlin.

Mrs. J. W. Clark, of Sweetwater, returned to her home Sunday after a visit here with her daughter Mrs. Harold Bonner.

GUM-DIPPED TIRES
for Greater Safety!

THERE is a reason why Louis Meyer won the 500-mile Indianapolis race this year—and why he is the only man ever to win this gruelling race three times. He always used Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires, and never experienced tire trouble of any kind.

Louis Meyer knows tire construction. He also knows that to drive for 500 consecutive miles over this hot brick track, negotiating the dangerous curves 800 times at the record-breaking average speed of 109 miles an hour, requires tires of super strength and greatest blowout protection, as a blowout on any one of the dangerous curves would likely mean instant death. By the Firestone patented Gum-Dipping process every cord in the tires on Louis Meyer's car was sealed and coated with liquid rubber, thereby preventing internal friction and heat. This is the secret of the extra strength and reserve safety built into Firestone Tires.

When you make your holiday trip this week-end, you of course will not drive 109 miles per hour, but at today's higher speeds you do need tires that will give you greatest blowout protection and will stop your car up to 25% quicker. Take no chances! Let us equip your car today with Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires, the safest tires built. It costs so little to protect lives worth so much!

THE Firestone STANDARD

Designed and constructed by Firestone tire engineers for long mileage and dependable service—a first quality tire built of high grade materials by skilled workmen, embodying the Firestone patented construction features of Gum-Dipping and Two Extra Layers of Gum-Dipped cords under the tread.

Its exceptional quality and service at these low prices are made possible by large volume production in the world's most efficient tire factories. Made in all sizes for passenger cars, trucks, and buses.

Drive in today and let us show you this new Firestone tire!

Get rid of constipation by taking Black-Draught as soon as you notice that bowel activity has slowed up or you begin to feel sluggish. With reference to Syrup of Black-Draught, which this mother gives her children, she says: "They like the taste and it gave such good results."

Crowned queen of the Philadelphia National Democratic convention was Marion Fore of Floresville. Selected from entrants from every state, Miss Fore, a June graduate of the University of Texas, was given an inscribed silver loving cup and a crown "symbolic of her authority as the most appealing girl at the convention."

Politics did not completely dominate the stage in Philadelphia at the Democratic National Convention. The Texas Centennial celebrations had their charming emissary in the person of Marion Fore (right), whose father, Sam Fore, Jr., is the popular publisher of the Floresville Chronicle-Journal. Her commission was signed in Austin by Governor Allred and presented in Tyler at the annual convention of the Texas Press Association by President Louis Elbert of Galveston. First to congratulate her was Janice Jarral, of San Antonio, early sweetheart of the Texas Centennial, who is shown examining the official commission, while the gentleman in the center, also an emissary at the Philadelphia convocation, looks on approvingly from his position.

"Rambling 'Round"

—SEEING WHAT'S TO SEE
—HEARING WHAT'S TO HEAR

About 20 or more years ago the Hamlin City Council passed an ordinance to prohibit the tacking, pasting, tying, or fastening of any kind of material whatsoever, on telegraph poles in the city of Hamlin. In those days a big policeman by the name of Ed Bigbee, who is now making 'em step around in Fort Worth, would snap up all offenders, and there was no "maybe" either. That ordinance is still on the books.

This is "Politics Year". If it were known by a certain candidate that Hamlin people would not vote for him because his handsome (?) picture is tacked up all over Hamlin's poles, but a dollar he would send a man up here to pull 'em down. The one guilty ought to be made to pay a fine for it anyway, or the candidate.

This is our hint to our City Marshal and a warning to others that it is a fineable case to tack cards on poles in Hamlin.

Humanity is much what it was in the days when mankind had advanced but little in civilization. Not everything is good, but on the whole the entire race is meeting and solving its problems as it has always done. Nothing that man does stays fixed; nothing is permanent and nothing is exactly right. As some men grow older they seem to be inclined to think that every thing and everybody is out of line, out of joint and nothing is good. It is a terrible condition to get one mind into. There is a way to cure such a growth. Think of the good things, talk of good things, have faith in your fellow man, be patient with your neighbors, think of how far YOU have come since your great-great-grandfather's childhood. No use in saying times were better then and that you had rather have the olden days than NOW. You just think so and do not realize what you say. As a matter of fact such a person is too weak, too lazy, too short in every way to even live in the hardship days of ye olden times. Most of humanity has comforts these days that not even the richest royalty could have in the days not too far back. Our country and our race is too advanced to make a serious mistake very long. It may look like sometimes the whole shebang is going to hell. It seemed that way to many folks a thousand years ago. Look back and you look down—look forward and you look up.

POLITICS is getting hotter and hotter—even some of the voters are getting all het up. A big rain might cool 'em down a bit.

Some years ago Taxation was a pretty good subject to talk about to the voters—now it is old age assistance—or we might say old age pensions. Regardless of what the law calls it, the people will keep on saying "Pensions." It is a good subject to pet the old people with too. So, Mr. Candidate is now making use of it—some will ride in on it, too. You get most of the old people for you and they all can vote. It's a funny thing that so many people, who have not paid their poll tax, ramp so much about who should be or not be elected. Votes only, count.

Most political places are filled by personal likes or dislikes. If enough people dislike a candidate he is beaten—his name is scratched for no sound reason and some incompetent is elected. That is foolish. To vote for a man or woman just because you like him is not business. Better to forget your own personal whims and use your head to get the best service for the best interest of the country. For example a man is "scratching his own face" to have his favorite barber shave him just because he dislikes another barber. A good workman does not give a darn whether you "love him" or not. A man may be as mean as heck to you and yet be the best fellow in the country to hold a public office. So, on and on, we could "ramble" on this line, but sometimes we find gold nuggets while rambling around. In other words the public welfare is far more important than your personal whims. Think of it.

NEW HOME DEMONSTRATION

AGENT VISITED HAMLIN

Tuesday morning Mrs. Ulric H. Lea, former Miss Jewell Faulkner, Jones County Home Demonstration Agent, visited Hamlin in company with the new Agent, Miss Gladys Martin, who succeeds Mrs. Lea.

Miss Faulkner was married last Saturday to Mr. Lea and they are now at home on their farm near Knox City. Mrs. Lea established a good record as demonstration agent while in this county. All who have had the pleasure of knowing her and her work compliment Mr. Lea on his "victory."

Miss Martin is a young woman of charming personality, and she has had about seven years of experience in the home demonstration work and she will be at home immediately in Jones County. She certainly will find an unusually high type of womanhood to work with in this county and also find one of the best agricultural counties in Texas. The Herald predicts for her a very successful stay in this county. We can also predict that such a talented and attractive woman is likely to resign any time and why not—home-making is the ultimate goal of home demonstration agents and home economic teachers. Welcome to Jones County, Miss Martin.

FLOWERS FOR BEDROOMS

Demonstration in flower arrangement and dresser demonstration were given by Miss Evelyn Jennings, our H. D. Agent and other to the Swedonia H. D. Club June 16 at Mrs. T. C. Jones'.

If you don't have tame flowers use wild ones and grass. Fisher County has lovely wildflowers and grasses. Use bowls, pitchers, jars to match some color in your room or clear glass is lovely. A low clear glass bowl with prickly pear blossoms makes a lovely decoration. Bear grass or the orchid thistles are lovely as are many others.

In arranging dresser, the even balance is a pretty box in center and tall vases on each side is good. Photos may be used on each side.

Miss Gertie Young read several short poems by Grace N. Crowell, Texas Laureate. These poems were of special interest to women.

There were 12 members present and one visitor, Mrs. Bozeman.

Mrs. Jones served tea, sandwiches and cakes. Next meeting at Mrs. H. J. Jackson's July 9.

COTTON BURRS

PROVING VALUABLE

Curry McCain of the Capitola community has a very striking example of the value of cotton burrs as a fertilizer.

Mr. McCain, according to T. H. Roensch, Fisher County Agent, has about two acres of sudan planted. On one acre, cotton burrs were applied to the land, the other acre of land were left in its natural state.

The sudan where the cotton burrs were applied is about waist high and is in a perfectly healthy condition, while, on the other acre, the sudan is about six inches high and is practically dead.

This land has been planted to the same crop in previous years, and each acre was planted and cultivated in a like manner this year, except the burrs being applied to one acre.

Little Eric went to a wedding and was given a seat near a fond aunt at the breakfast.

"Well," said the dear old thing, "and what kind of wedding will you have when you grow up, Eric?"

"I'm never going to get married," he said, with an air of defiance.

"But why not, dear?" she asked.

The boy looked across at his parents and made a grimace.

"Well, for one thing, I've lived too long with married people already," he replied.—Stray Stories Magazine.

The SEASONS DIFFER TODAY

"At Christmas I no more desire a rose
Than wish a snow in May's new-fangled mirth;
But like of each thing that in season grows."

THESE lines tend to remind us that we've been slipping some since Shakespeare's day. We've contracted a very bad habit of wanting our roses at Christmas, and our eskimo-pie on May-day.

Luckily, however, we can have them without too much fuss—thanks to florists and ice-cream makers. Lucky too, since we have fallen so low as to desire peaches at Christmas, along with our roses, and cranberry sauce in May, along with our snow, that cannerys have stepped up progress to the point that we can have foods out of season also.

Pass the June Salad, Please

Seasons in menus have little to differentiate them today. Spring and summer are blithely tossed into our winter meals by means of fresh luscious fruits and vegetable salads, and frozen dishes are a very essential part of our summer meals.

Have you a good selection of spring and summer salads to brighten up these gray blustery days? Jellyed salads more colorful with fruits and served in deep cups of crisp lettuce do things for meals which feature meat roasts, and the heavier courses. Canned fruits, since they are the choicest fruits of the orchard, are tempting in form and color as well as flavor, and add that beauty as well as zest, which the hostess desires for her feast.

Try these delicious salads and then look at your calendar to see if it's really winter.

Jellyed Pineapple and Peach Salad: Dissolve one package of lemon flavored gelatin in one cup boiling water and add one cup of canned peach and pineapple syrup. When cold and ready to set, add one cup of diced canned peaches, one cup drained crushed pineapple, one-half cup chopped nuts and one-half cup chopped dates. Mold as desired. Serve cold on crisp lettuce with mayonnaise. This serves eight persons.

Ginger Ale and Grapefruit Salad: Soak two tablespoons of gelatin in four tablespoons cold water, then dissolve it in one-half cup boiling water. Add one-fourth cup sugar and one-fourth cup lemon juice. Stir until the sugar is dissolved. When cold, add one cup ginger ale and the syrup from one No. 2 can of grapefruit. When about to set, add the grapefruit pulp and eight maraschino cherries. Pour into a flat pan or into molds, and let chill until stiff. Serve garnished at the side with sprigs of fresh mint, and top with cream mayonnaise. This serves eight persons.

Pear and Tomato Salad: Slice chilled ripe tomatoes and place one slice of tomato in each of eight individual nests of lettuce. Place half of a canned pear on top of each, with the cut side of the pear up. Mix one cream cheese with three tablespoons of chili sauce and pile in the pear cavities. Garnish with strips of canned pimiento and serve with either mayonnaise or French dressing. This serves eight persons.
